FIRPO KNOCKED OUT IN THE 2nd ROUND

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN FOR JAPAN RELIEF STARTS HERE TODAY

Clearfield Chapter Pledge
Of $3,000 Will Be Easily Met
If Every Citizen Does Duty

Every Bank In Vicinity and About 150 Business Places Have Been Named As Agents and Furnished With Receipt Books To Issue You Receipts For Your Money.

PROMPT ACTION IS REQUESTED OF ALL

The great Japanese earthquake calamity is still fresh in the minds of the people of Clearfield county, many of whom have expressed a desire to contribute to the relief of the hundreds of thousands of people who have lost the means of livelihood and all other earthly possessions in one of the greatest catastrophes the world has ever known.

Not only our thoughts turn to that great organization known as the American Red Cross when these things happen and just as naturally do we heed the call from that organization to give what we feel is our portion. It may seem that the call is coming a little late, but it must be borne in mind that the Clearfield Chapter, American Red Cross has been running on a very economical basis and as a result when this call came about a week ago, the machinery by which to operate was not available.

Chairman M. M. Overly of the Clearfield Chapter and his assistant, Miss Kolbe, have been very busy all of this week sending out receipt books to all of the banks in this Chapter and about 148 business houses, whom they are asking to act as depositors, or rather, speakers of the contributions to be made by the people in this Chapter.

Attached to this article will be found a list of the places where you can give your share towards the Japanese Relief Fund.

It has been called to the attention of the Progress that the good people of Clearfield are already active on this proposition and Miss Eckhart of Clearfield, a member of the Executive Committee of the Clearfield Chapter, has gone ahead with certain plans in that community, which have the sanction of the Executive Committee.

It has also been brought to our attention that the people of Kermoor, through Mrs. E. M. McCreery, have voted the sentiment that they will respond to the appeal.

The appeal is now made general and everybody is asked to go to one of the places designated at once and give as much as they can towards a most worthy cause. No house-to-house canvass will be made, neither will there be any collectors used unless it becomes necessary in order to raise the amount apportioned by National Headquarters, which, for the Clearfield Chapter is $3,000.

It ought not to be difficult at all to raise this amount if everybody will but do their share and while it is hoped that there will be many substantial contributions, it is also hoped that the head of every family will endeavor to give at least one dollar.

All ministers and Sunday school superintendents have been asked to present this matter to their congregations tomorrow and they have also been asked to take up a special collection for the Japanese Relief Fund on Sunday, September 23.

The last two or three days the city newspapers have been carrying stories to the effect that practically all of the $5,000,000 asked for throughout the nation by the Red Cross, has been raised. This is misleading as these figures are put out by National Red Cross headquarters and are based on the pledges made by the various

NOVEL SURPRISE IS ARRANGED FOR DR. REEVE AND WIFE ON RETURN HOME

When Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Reeve return from a three or four week vacation today they are going to get a surprise that will no doubt go down in their memory as one of the epochs in their lives. Mrs. Reeve just recently returned from Camden, N. J. where she had been a hospital patient for several months and in order that she might completely recover her health the trip to Canada was arranged. When the Reeve family arrive in Clearfield today to again take up their daily duties at the Presbyterian manse they will be likely to believe that a good fairy has been at work at the manse and there will be evidence there to show that there are a lot of good fairies in Clearfield and particularly among the women of the Presbyterian church.

Shortly after the pastor and his wife left for Canada the Ladies Aid of the church conceived the idea of refurbishing Mrs. Reeve's room at the manse and when they finished this they thought that they had only begun the good work that they could do so they set about to do a real job of it. The manse was accordingly thoroughly cleaned and renovated, new wall paper of a particularly beautiful and tasty design was selected and put on every room, upstairs and down, new curtains were made and hung, beautiful draperies were designed, cut out, hemmed and put in place. A bedroom was completely outfitted with new furniture, even to a reading lamp. Three luxurious pieces of new furniture were installed in the living room. The wood work in all rooms was re-touched and new lighting fixtures of a very pretty modern design installed. These are the things we notice and no doubt the ladies did much more than this that did not come under our notice for mere man does not notice the many little touches that make a home dear to the heart of a woman. We did notice, however that it looks like a honeymoon nest and if we had any idea that the Ladies Aid would do as much for us we would go to Canada next week.

So proud were the ladies of their accomplishment that they invited everybody in last evening to look it over and a large proportion of the congregation availed themselves of the privilege. The ladies served tea, Mrs. Harry B. Fulford and Miss Ella Shaw, presiding, represented the Ladies Aid and the Women's Missionary Society, both of whom helped in the undertaking. Each of the other organizations were represented by the young ladies who served. Miss Mary Mitchell sang several selections which were heartily enjoyed. Miss Jean Mitchell rendered a violin solo of great merit and Mrs. Alice Smith Bay contributed a full share to the enjoyment of the evening at the piano.

The surprise tendered Dr. and Mrs. Reeve today is a manifestation of the high regard in which they are held by the members of the Presbyterian congregation. The Progress joins in their welcome back to Clearfield.

DE RIVERIA IS CALLED UPON TO FORM NEW SPANISH CABINET

Madrid, Sept. 14.—The King today charged revolutionary leader Captain General Primo De Rivera with formation of a new Government.

Selection of the revolutionary leader to form a new cabinet would indicate the revolution has ended in a complete triumph for the military juntas, who presumably will start immediately carrying out their program, which calls for:

First: An increased campaign against the Moorish rebels in Morocco.

Second: Suppression of Communism and Separatism.

Third: Satisfaction of legitimate demands of Catalonia, Galicia and Bizaya, but with the preservation of the national unity.

The Revolutionists, it was indicated, will not tolerate separation of Catalonia from the Spanish State and will stand firm in their loyalty to the King and his monarchy.

Judges Of Election Can Help People To Know Election Results Early

The county-wide interest being manifested in the primary election campaign which is now drawing to a close will only be excelled by the interest in the results after one hundred ten election boards of the county have completed their labors of tallying the vote. Even though there may be a heavy vote cast, and the number of candidates great, the individual voter is privileged to vote for but a small portion of the whole.

Thus the unofficial results should be forthcoming fairly early in the night. The important matter is that a complete tabulation should be made early on Wednesday. The return judges are required to come to the office of the county commissioners at Clearfield on the morning following the primary and deliver to those officials both sealed and unsealed return sheets. From the latter, the information for the public is gleaned.

In past years, great inconvenience has often been experienced by reason of the fact that some return judges have sealed the unsealed sheets, thus shutting off the privilege of the public in obtaining the information contained therein. Last year the commissioners issued an order that a strict compliance with the law relative to return sheets would be required. Failure to live up to the letter of the law would result in a request to return, reassemble the board and extract the sheet which is to be unsealed from the sealed envelope.

This order did a lot of good. Election officers who had formerly been careless and indifferent about this

Good Woman Called By Death Suddenly On Friday Afternoon

This community received a sad shock last evening when word was noised about town of the death of Mrs. John, the beloved wife of Squire Joseph F. John, and former pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal church.

Mrs. John, who was enjoying her usual good health up until about 2 o'clock about that time was seized by an attack of acute indigestion. A physician was called who ministered to her and left her resting comfortably. About 6 o'clock her family, who were in close attention, noticed she was sinking rapidly and within fifteen minutes of that hour the final summons came and the soul of this good woman winged its silent flight to the God who gave it.

The deceased was a noble woman, the ideal wife and devoted mother who since coming to Clearfield with her family about fifteen years ago had endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She lived for her home and loved ones and never tired in her efforts to make them comfortable and happy, and also possessed mother love enough in her heart to self-sacrificingly extend its goodness and kindness to all in need of the mothering and sympathy ever bubbling over in her heart.

Her sudden taking away is indeed a heart-crushing blow to her loved ones and her death has brought sorrow and gloom to the entire community.

Mrs. John is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Henry Van Valzah, Misses Laura and Agnes, all of Clearfield, and one son.

Funeral notice and proper obituary Monday.

CONTRACT SIGNED FOR STREET LIGHTS THRU WOODLAND

Yesterday a brief mention was made of a new era of change in the town of Woodland. Recently there was organized a Booster Club out there, which club is composed of the business and professional men; those who by the present order of things are expected to take the lead and set the pace as they do in other towns. They seem to have the right idea and already are at work on some propositions which will result in great improvement for the town. One of the things that they point to with pride right now is the signing of a contract with the Penn Public to put a lighting system along the streets of the town. While these lights will be of simple character they will perform the much needed function of furnishing light to the fellow who must come home late from work or whose pursuit of business or pleasure takes him out at night. The Booster Club got behind the idea and with the hearty cooperation and support of the citizens they are working it out. The next move will be to inaugurate a movement for sidewalks and truly this is a much needed improvement owing to the greatly increased automobile traffic and its dangers to pedestrians.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The ZR-1, Uncle Sam's wonderful airplane which recently made a successful trial flight, is some boat. Here is what it cost, what it can do, and its capacity in power and balance.

Work was started in April, 1922. It has cost $1,500,000. It has a total lift of 108,000 pounds and a dead weight of 74,000 pounds. It can carry 150 passengers, 3,000 lbs., and with twice the quantity of fuel will take them over any transatlantic route. Six engines of 300 horse-power each hang from it in gondolas. It is equipped with 62 fuel tanks, each with a capacity of 5,430 gallons of gasoline, and 20 water ballast tanks, each containing one ton of water.

While no official announcement has been made of its war availability, it is said that there is ample space for mounting guns and storage of high explosives.

It is officially reported that 2,794 forest fires burned in this state last spring. The flames swept over an area estimated at 340,797 acres, and the direct damage to the growing timber is placed at $711,042. It cost the state $127,515.70 to extinguish the flames.

When you are asked to contribute to Japanese relief, bear in mind that at the time of the San Francisco earthquake Japan was the first foreign nation to contribute to the relief fund. The Japs contributed to the relief fund $254,960, which was more than the combined total contributed by all other foreign nations. San Francisco requested no assistance. She rebuilt herself with miracle.

ulous speed and energy. None the less, the generous act of Japan, now so dreadfully afflicted, should not be forgotten. This nation should advance to Japan what she wants more than mere individual charity, substantial loans, on most reasonable terms.

If you would be a credit to your American citizenship and a man to be looked up to in your community there is a way.

Practice the fundamental Christian precepts and you will be a good and useful citizen. And if you are a good and useful citizen, you will make a genuine contribution to democracy and to your country's welfare, however humble the part you may be called upon to play. It is not given to every man and woman to be great in the sense that we ordinarily use that term. True greatness does not consist in high place or power; it consists in the quality and character of the individual, and in the kind of service he renders in the part allotted to him in the tasks of our common life.

But do not call yourselves 100 per cent American. Patriotism is not measured in percentages. One hundred per cent is the mathematical equation for perfection, and one must not be so pharisaical as to claim that he is a perfect citizen under the guise of a mathematical equation or otherwise. Patriotism is not a matter of mathematics; it is a matter of equality, of sacrifice, of soul. It is a transcendent thing, and is not proved by asseverations of perfection or mere protestations. By practicing Christian virtues, by observing high moral standards, and by making unselfish sacrifice to the high command of duty, you will become a patriot, and prove worthy of citizenship in the greatest democracy the world has ever known.

JUDGES OF ELECTION

... of who were unaware of the demands of the law took the cue and all the returns came in form. It is hoped that the same condition will obtain this year. The same law applies and the invocation of the same rule and law will stand as last year. The same law applies and the invocation of the same rule and law will stand as last year.

There are many candidates this year and it is expected there will be some close contests. It may require the complete vote to determine the winner. The sealing of the returns from a single district may hold the result in abeyance for three or four days. Those would be exasperating days, not only for the candidates whose fates are in the balance but for the public which is entitled to that information just as soon as it can get it.

Purged instructions to election of fairs are contained in the paraphernalia and simple. Envelopes are provided for each return and tally sheets and it is marked on the envelope whether or not it is to be sealed and to whom it is to be delivered. This should simplify matters for judges of election and insure complete, unsealed returns from which the newspapers get the information which they disseminate to the public.

FIRPO KNOCKED OUT

blow struck in the fight which could be called a miss, but he floored Firpo for the count of four with a left to the jaw. Firpo got up and landed a short right to the body. Dempsey floored Firpo again with a right to the jaw and Firpo arose. Dempsey knocked him down again but he seemed to mind it no more than would a balky mule. Twice more the giant Argentinian kissed the boards. The knockdowns were so frequent that it was practically impossible to keep track of them. When Firpo had been knocked down for the fourth time Dempsey dropped his guard and, just as though he had come fresh into the ring, Firpo dropped Dempsey with a terrific blow. The champion went to his knees but carried on the fighting with vigor. The finish of the fight was a free handed slugging match, every blow like that of a pile driver and every smash landing. Both were slugging. Roth were wobbly. Both were almost out. When the gong sounded Firpo had Dempsey on the ropes and was pounding him at will. It was the fastest and most furious round ever witnessed in the history of prize fighting. Not to be compared in any way with the Willard-Dempsey clash in which the champion had it all his own way. Here was a test of force, not the triumph of science and force over flesh and poundage. The seconds of both fighters worked frantically and panic stricken between the rounds. Dempsey's manager, Jack Kearns, lost his usual composure and it was evident to all that the fight must end soon and that there was a possibility of the South American getting one of his terrific blows in at a critical time.

shook the champion to the heels.

This he followed up with a right and left to Dempsey's jaw, struck almost simultaneously, which sent the champion catapulting through the ropes onto the shoulders of Kid McPartland, one of the judges. Dempsey had again been surprised. He was also angered. Gaining his place in the ring he charged and landed a left to Firpo's heart which sent Firpo down on his side, but the doughty Firpo was not to be disposed of easily. Again he arose but with blood streaming from his nose and mouth, his knees sagging. The time for a knockout had arrived and a carefully timed, quickly executed right and left to the jaw sent the hope of South America on his back for the count of ten.

The Sedan Without Limitations

Ensconced in the expansive comfort of your Stutz Six Sedan, storms are merely an incident, never to mar motoring pleasure. Weather cannot veer so quickly as you can let the wide clear glass panels up or down.

Yet, in producing an equipage finely attune to the social occasion, no whit of capability as a road car has been lost in the Stutz Six Sedan. Vanished is all that heavy feeling associated with enclosed cars, for the Stutz Six engine, with its limitless energy, propels this Sedan with that spirited alacrity and ease of handling matched only by Stutz Six open models.

Owners know

Silent and sturdy as the motor is this full-fledged four-door Sedan body, mounted in the exclusive new Stutz manner on separate supports outside the sagless, swayless, ultra-deep frame.

Smart but practical in finish and fittings; debonair as a continental custom car; able as a Stutz; here is a Sedan to emphasize the qualities which have made the Stutz Six, at its moderate price, the unabated sensation among automobiles. The increasing demand recommends immediate action.

"My Stutz Six Sedan has more power than any other car within $7000 of the same price. Most closed cars can top heavy and do not have the same power required. Both of these disadvantages common to other closed cars have been overcome in the Stutz Six Sedan. The power feature sold me." C. V. GRAY, Gray Lumber and Shingle Co., Seattle, Wash.

"I cannot say enough for Stutz cars. Have had four previous models and have driven over 200,000 miles with perfect satisfaction. Once a Stutz owner, always a Stutz owner!" S. SPANGLER, Lancaster, Pa.

"My Stutz Six is all that I could expect of a car. The car's performance is in every way remarkable. I have always heard the Stutz spoken of as a good car and the Stutz Company as a reliable concern." DAVID ROBBINS, Jr., Fort Newton, N. J.

ACT THE CITIZEN.—VOTE

The people, about seventy-five per cent of them, in Clearfield County, have scrapped the most precious boon gained for them by the blood sacrifices of the founders of the republic. This is the appalling significance of existant political apathy. "No taxation without representation," was the slogan of the patriots of 1776, but in 1923 the great majority of the people don't care who taxes them or how much.

Ours is a popular government only to the extent that the populace, eligible to exercise the citizen's franchise, takes part in selecting the government.

Last November, of all the men and women in Clearfield County eligible to vote, only a small percentage voted.

According to present indications a showing even more disgraceful will be made at the primary election polls next Tuesday. Yet men nominated that day on the Republican ticket will be commissioned to levy taxes, expend the public moneys and administer the government, being responsible for government's functioning for or against the people's interests, and accountable for the public security and well-being in general. Citizens who are not sufficiently interested in how their business shall be conducted by their elected representatives, abandon their rights. Make up your minds now; if you will not take the trouble to register and vote you are not entitled to complain about the quality of government you have.

The public cannot be corrupted. Public apathy at election time makes the opportunity for corrupt interests to filch the people's birthright.

The issues of this election have been presented clearly. They are understood by everyone. There can be no valid excuse for more than a very few citizens not voting.

Vote on Tuesday. Let us have government that is representative of the judgment and will of a majority of the people. Getting that, as we will if all vote, we may have confidence in the result.

HELP SOLVE YOUR TOWN'S PROBLEMS

In every city one now finds organizations whose members devote much thought, work, time and money for the advancement and improvement of the home community to make it a better place in which to live and work.

Every small town should have active community organizations with all reputable citizens of the town and surrounding country as members. The primary purpose of such organizations is to stimulate community interest, create public sentiment, inspire confidence, and solve the community's most difficult problems.

Such organizations quickly promote community loyalty and effort, both of which are absolutely essential in building and maintaining a bigger, better and busier home town.

The community organizations must arouse enthusiasm in all of their movements. They must work without pay or expectation of recompense for their efforts in any other way than that of the realization of a public service well done.

Each and every member derives profit only from the general advancement of the community and the betterment of the conditions under which they live and transact business. They share in this as citizens.

It is to men of this character and calibre that the world owes its advancement and its education. The selfish citizen leaves no record—nothing that can benefit the public or help posterity. When he dies, he is really and truly "dead" in every sense of the word.

Therefore, the community organization, more than any other agency, deals with the "human element," and planning, as it does, the best things possible for the community, it must not be looked upon as an institution that can go ahead and force its way through to success. It must be an "affirmative" organization, not a "negative" body. Optimism must govern its action and pessimism must be discouraged and forgotten.

The members of such an organization must gather strength like the growing oak—reach far out into the soil on every side—gather the best for their community—and use it—and keep using and improving it. Believe in each other and in their community. Work for each other. Stick to the job—work on to the end—and then turn it over to their children, not ashamed of the effort they have made or the results obtained.

Community work is large work—work you cannot measure in dollars and cent—work that will repay you with more than money—with a much better town and a contented, industrious, happy people, which is sufficient reward for any citizen who has adopted as his life's rule the Golden Rule, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," which is after all the only worth while "human element."

Washington, D. C. Sept 14.—United States Ambassador Woods at Tokio today advised the State Department that Mrs. Gilbert and Miss Cameron, both of Harrisburg, Pa., who are in the Japanese disaster area, are both safe.

Women Get Workers.
South American coffee and cotton planters say the women and children work better than men, though their labor is rewarded with a lower wage. Women barter in fruit, vegetables and dress goods as "deak traders" on the steamships which ply between West Indian islands. In Grenada they act as blacksmiths, shepherds, carpenters and carriers.

Hairs on the Human Head.
One authority says an average head hair may consist of as many as 1,000 hairs of the darker shades, and red hair about 80,000. A count of the hairs on a square inch of scalp on numerous heads gives an average of 1,000 per square inch; on certain other heads the figures are zero!

More Grip on the Road! Buick Four-wheel Brakes

Buick four-wheel brakes give all 1924 Buick cars twice the amount of grip on the road, thereby doubling their braking efficiency. It is the friction or grip of the tire on the road surface that brakes or slows down the car. Buick four-wheel brakes not only provide a greater power to stop in case of emergency but, because of this four-wheel road grip, reduce sliding dangers to a minimum. In turning, Buick four-wheel brake construction automatically releases whichever is the outside or guiding front wheel so it is instantly responsive to the steering mechanism. Buick four-wheel brake construction distributes braking friction over four drums and four wheels. This reduces wear on brake linings and tires, thereby assuring their longer life and greater efficiency with fewer adjustments. Buick four-wheel brakes (on all models) together with countless other distinctive features of the 1924 car further establish Buick as the Standard of Comparison.

Progress Editorial For Women

VANITY, VANITY, ALL IS VANITY

By FLORENCE DAVIES

Maybe the King of Spain can do what the Holy Father at Rome was unable to accomplish. With women, I mean. You remember the Pope refused an audience to a number of women pilgrims because their gowns were sleeveless and cut too low. That was a month or two ago, and sleeves are still as minus a quantity as ever, far as the casual observer is able to discover.

Then from all parts of the country came reports of employers issuing orders that women appearing for work in sleeveless gowns shall be sent home or discharged, or what not. And still the streets are full of women in sleeveless dress.

But now comes King Alphonse of Spain, and he says something different. He has watched the sleeveless woman all summer, and as you know, he has something of a reputation as a connoisseur in feminine beauty. He has seen bare arms, apparently, until they have become a nightmare to him, and here is his decision:

"There is no such thing as a woman with a beautiful upper arm."

There, maybe that will hit the spot! For popes and employers, be they ever so wise, have a lot to learn about how to make women believe.

And take it from this journalist, that can never be done by pretending to be shocked at them, nor by preaching sermons on the immorality of women's dress, or magnifying or railing against women's folly. Repeated expostulation on behalf of womanly modesty won't get you anywhere with a woman. Never! Women have heard all that since the day of Eve and, believe me, she knew it; she was in it. For doesn't it all contribute to her vanity?

There, that word vanity! Isn't that, after all, the keynote to the whole scheme of things feminine? Think her vanity and you stand a fair chance of winning a victory. Hair doesn't lobbed for healthfulness, but for vanity's sake. Sleeves weren't pinned either because women wanted their arms to be cool, but because they wanted to show them, and show them they would, kings or popes or headed to the contrary.

Vanity, that's all. Vanity overruling morals, outweighing common sense, outraging common decency, always vanity. So let's see what the King of Spain's report on them ugly arms does. But you when a woman learns her arms are ugly she'll cover them.

Thought for the Day.
Sometimes we become discouraged because we hear so few favorable comments; let us be thankful we do not hear all that are unfavorable.

ODELL HAUSER'S COLUMN

Expert Review of the Week in Pennsylvania Public Affairs.

By ODELL HAUSER

During the present week Pennsylvania politics has been enjoying itself by going into the future. In these paragraphs there has already been a preview of the presidential possibilities entering about the name of Edward Pinchot. Most of the important events have directly or indirectly touched on this issue.

By this time the politicians of the state take it as a foregone conclusion that there will be a "Pinchot for President" movement in the field next spring. The delegates to the Republican National Convention are being chosen. They may or may not be right, but that is the way their minds run.

It is worth while to devote a separate paragraph to emphasizing this fact. Those who are attempting to follow the politics of the state understandingly should get it firmly fixed in their minds that from this time on the strategy of the leaders will be based on the assumption that a ticket of national delegates favorable to the Pinchot candidacy will be put in the field. Some of them would welcome this, and others would be opposed to it. But whether welcoming or opposing, they are governing their present actions by the estimate that this is what is going to happen.

It is not at all unlikely that in many of the counties where there are anti-organization campaigns being conducted at the present moment, this fact is at the bottom of what is being done. That is to say, that in counties where it is felt the regular Republican organization would be against Mr. Pinchot, local adherents of the Governor are endeavoring to win victories in county offices so that they may be in a position to go into a contest for delegates next spring under favorable auspices.

Nor are susceptibilities to the Pinchot boom confined entirely to manifestations in Pennsylvania. There are ample signs that Washington is aware of the situation. It is by now no secret that a healthy job of work is being done in the interest of securing the Republican nomination for President Coolidge. Nothing is more natural, therefore, than that the Coolidge scouts, casting wary eyes toward all points on the horizon, should have discovered the Pinchot threat, which was only a general threat in the beginning but through the Governor's settling of the coal strike has become a special threat.

Far be it from me to know whether President Coolidge writes all his letters himself or not, but the latest bit of juicy gossip on this situation relates to an epistle from the President to the Governor anent the conclusion of the coal strike negotiations, in which, whether Mr. Coolidge dictated it himself or not, one seems to discern the fine Italian hand of his experienced secretary, C. Bascom Slomp.

The neat thing about this epistle is that neither the President nor the Governor make it public. The root of that matter appears to be that the President's letter contained a left handed compliment to the Governor. Unofficial gossip has it that the President congratulated Mr. Pinchot on the success of the negotiations in which you co-operated." And that was apparently not at all the kind of congratulation the Governor wanted, for it relegated him to a minor role.

The incident is not momentous, but it is interesting, for it seems to help in answering the question that was freely asked at the time the President handed the coal negotiations over to Mr. Pinchot: "What will the President do if Governor Pinchot settles the strike and steals all his thunder?"

The answer seems to be that the President does not intend to have all the thunder stolen. He is relegating the Governor of Pennsylvania to the role of one who "co-operated." That, in the language of the vaudeville comedian, is the President's story and he intends to stick to it. And official Washington waits with interest to see what will be the outcome. It does not take much to stir up official Washington in the year of a presidential election and this Coolidge-Pinchot letter, whose text still remains unrevealed, has been sufficient to do the trick.

That the matter should have attracted the amount of attention it has, shows how closely Washington is watching the presidential situation and how seriously it takes Mr. Pinchot's intentions as a possible contender for honors whose granting would spoil the plans of the President's supporters.

There has been some talk to the effect that Mr. Coolidge viewed the Pennsylvania Governor as one who might be a fitting running-mate as Vice-Presidential candidate. That seems a bit far-fetched. Except for his admiration for Theodore Roosevelt and his tendency to follow in the latter's footsteps of example, there is no quality about Mr. Pinchot which would suggest his inclination toward playing second fiddle on the Republican national ticket. And even if he did, the fact that Coolidge is from Massachusetts would, unless all precedent is to be violated, necessitate his associate being chosen from some point further west than Pennsylvania.

It is to be noted as one of the political conditions of the moment that Pinchot's part in settling the coal strike has considerably worried Republican politicians both of his own state and of national consequence. They have a feeling that he may have acquired political capital out of the situation and that this will later be used in his favor, which means to their disadvantage.

Yet this feeling on their part seems to be mostly the product of the politicians' infinite capacity for being scared.

There have been no conspicuous signs that the public in general is worked up over the matter. The opinion which has found expression more than any other is that Mr. Pinchot did as well as anyone could have done under the circumstances and better than many, but that the public did not gain any great boon by the terms of settlement.

The general public reaction would seem to be more resentment against the coal industry as a whole for further increasing prices, than gratitude to Pinchot for having assured a continuation of the anthracite output. The cold-blooded political analyst will scarcely bring himself to believe that Mr. Pinchot will be able to ride into the White House on what he has done with the coal situation.

That is why the attempt that is being made right here in Pennsylvania to make the Governor's life less pleasant is really more important to consider than the coal agitation which is now fashionable.

The well advertised Battle of the Code is on again with renewed force. The imperturbable State Treasurer, Charles A. Snyder, is once more the generalissimo of the forces of attack. Mr. Snyder lost the first round of his fight a week or two ago, as recounted in these paragraphs, when the Dauphin county court granted Attorney General Woodruff's mandamus action, compelling him to return to the Auditor General the payrolls he had held up.

Mr. Snyder returned the payrolls, and when the Governor and Auditor General voted to pay the salaries, he politely but firmly refused to honor the requisitions and the Attorney General went into court with another mandamus action. The date fixed for the hearing on that action was September 22.

In the meantime, the State Treasurer decided to take the offensive himself. He went into the Dauphin county court last Tuesday and asked for an injunction restraining Attorney General Woodruff, Auditor General Lewis and Secretary of State King from acting as members of the new Board of Finance and Revenue created by the Code.

In this action Mr. Snyder scored his first victory. It has been his battle to get the question of the constitutionality of the Code before the court and Mr. Woodruff's, acting for the administration, to prevent it. In ruling on Mr. Snyder's injunction application, Judge Hargest held that state officials may be enjoined from acting when an act contemplated is invalid, and he ordered the Commonwealth to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be granted, thus shifting the burden of proving the Code constitutional to it.

The court fixed September 22 as the date for hearing this action also, thus lumping the whole question into one session, at which time there will also be heard argument on two further injunction applications filed by Snyder against the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings and the State Workmen's Insurance Board. So next Saturday will be a big day.

This question of the Code is even more important than the matter of coal mediation as affecting the Governor's possible presidential boom. If the Code be declared unconstitutional, it will throw the state's whole fiscal system into a confusion which can scarcely be straightened out without a special legislative session.

Should that occur, the organization politicians, who are opposed to Mr. Pinchot's presidential ambitions, will be able to attack him on the ground that his policy of economy and efficiency was a failure. So it will be seen that big stakes are being played for. Keep your eyes on Harrisburg for a while.

TREE WORSHIP, ANCIENT AND MODERN

By S. P. HOLMESWORTH
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Harrisburg, Sept. 15.—There are forms of tree worship in Pennsylvania today which are relics of the most primitive religion known to mankind, according to Dr. J. S. Illick, of the Department of Forests and Waters.

"Sacred trees appeared in the most ancient mythologies and lingered in the last remnants of heathenism," Dr. Illick declared in explaining the origin and the reason for tree worship among ancients and moderns as well. "In tree worship we find nothing but beauty and idealism. There occurs nothing repulsive or revolting in it. As we look upon the grace, symmetry, nobility, and grandeur of stately trees, it is not hard for us to imagine the circumstances and conditions under which we ourselves might worship with them," he said.

There are ten forms of tree worship—some would call them superstitions—known in Pennsylvania, many of them having almost universal recognition, according to Dr. Illick.

Up in the northern tier of the commonwealth an old belief existed that a sprig of mountain ash placed on the lapel of the coat or dress of young people kept away evil spirits. Parents were wont to practice this barbarian custom when their sons and daughters went on a long journey.

It isn't necessary to go far from home to find widespread belief in the sanctity of trees, Dr. Illick points out, in reminding us that the Christmas tree has a reverential place in the hearts of young and old alike. "Why do we decorate our homes with holly and mistletoe at Christmas time?" he asks. This is a festive custom, he explains, originated by our barbarous ancestors, who believed that the holly and mistletoe brought into the house the spirit which inhabited them and kept them bright and green on this day.

There are eight other ritualistic customs observed in this state by different elements of the population, according to Dr. Illick's list, which are founded upon tree worship. They are:

- 1.—Trees that do not bear well should be shaken or whipped on Good Friday.
- 2.—Drive nails in trees that do not bear well.
- 3.—Hang a piece of iron on trees that do not bear.
- 4.—When planting a tree tramp the ground in the direction of the sun, that is, east to west.
- 5.—An apple tree will bear well if Pegs Provided for Wigs.

A visitor in one of London's churches was puzzled a short time ago to see, at the back of the pulpit and on a level with the preacher's head, a wooden peg which appeared to belong to the pulpit woodwork. Similar pegs were to be found in other parts of the same church, and in many other city churches. They were once used for hanging up the preacher's and the congregation's wigs.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER—WHO?

Mr. Mrs. and Miss Voter:

If the voters of Clearfield County would stop for one moment to consider how important the office of County Commissioner is to each individual of the County, they would be more careful about selecting men for this office.

The three Commissioners conduct practically the entire county business of this large county. They make the contracts and pay the bill, while the taxpayers furnish the money.

Each voter as an individual hands his share of the county business over to these men. The business of the county covers a wide field with many things of personal interest to the voters. Taxes and the way the money is spent interests everyone.

It is not always the one who has accumulated the most wealth who makes the best public servant. A careful study of our President's produce convincing evidence on this point.

A clean honest record with a good standing in his own community are two necessary qualifications for any man who is seeking this important office: the man who has been right at home—who stands four square with his neighbors, regardless of politics, is a pretty safe choice when looking for the right man for County Commissioner.

You will find all these desirable qualifications in the person of W. B. Stephenson of Mahaffey, who is a candidate for County Commissioner on the Republican ticket. Mr. Stephenson is one of those honest farmers with good sound judgment and a clear knowledge of what the great majority of our Clearfield County people want and really need. He is well educated, a good book-keeper, cautious and considerate in his judgment and just the type of a man sure not to disappoint the voters of Clearfield County who are looking for a real man for County Commissioner this Fall.

There are a number of worthy candidates in the field for County Commissioner but it can be stated without fear of contradiction that W. B. Stephenson of Mahaffey, when every qualification is carefully considered, stands second to none of them.

A VOTER.

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN FOR JAPAN RELIEF STARTS HERE TODAY

Clearfield Chapter Pledge
Of $3,000 Will Be Easily Met
If Every Citizen Does Duty

Every Bank In Vicinity and About 150 Business Places Have Been Named As Agents and Furnished With Receipt Books To Issue You Receipts For Your Money.

PROMPT ACTION IS REQUESTED OF ALL

The great Japanese earthquake calamity is still fresh in the minds of the people of Clearfield county, many of whom have expressed a desire to contribute to the relief of the hundreds of thousands of people who have lost the means of livelihood and all other earthly possessions in one of the greatest catastrophes the world has ever known.

Not only our thoughts turn to that great organization known as the American Red Cross when these things happen and just as naturally do we heed the call from that organization to give what we feel is our portion. It may seem that the call is coming a little late, but it must be borne in mind that the Clearfield Chapter, American Red Cross has been running on a very economical basis and as a result when this call came about a week ago, the machinery by which to operate was not available.

Chairman M. M. Overly of the Clearfield Chapter and his assistant, Miss Kolbe, have been very busy all of this week sending out receipt books to all of the banks in this Chapter and about 148 business houses, whom they are asking to act as depositors, or rather, speakers of the contributions to be made by the people in this Chapter.

Attached to this article will be found a list of the places where you can give your share towards the Japanese Relief Fund.

It has been called to the attention of the Progress that the good people of Clearfield are already active on this proposition and Miss Eckhart of Clearfield, a member of the Executive Committee of the Clearfield Chapter, has gone ahead with certain plans for that community, which have the sanction of the Executive Committee.

It has also been brought to our attention that the people of Kermoor, through Mrs. E. M. McCreery, have voted the sentiment that they will respond to the appeal.

The appeal is now made general and everybody is asked to go to one of the places designated at once and give as much as they can towards a most worthy cause. No house-to-house canvass will be made, neither will there be any collectors used unless it becomes necessary in order to raise the amount apportioned by National Headquarters, which, for the Clearfield Chapter is $3,000.

It ought not to be difficult at all to raise this amount if everybody will but do their share and while it is hoped that there will be many substantial contributions, it is also hoped that the head of every family will endeavor to give at least one dollar.

All ministers and Sunday school superintendents have been asked to present this matter to their congregations tomorrow and they have also been asked to take up a special collection for the Japanese Relief Fund on Sunday, September 23.

The last two or three days the city newspapers have been carrying stories to the effect that practically all of the $5,000,000 asked for throughout the nation by the Red Cross, has been raised. This is misleading as these figures are put out by National Red Cross headquarters and are based on the pledges made by the various

When Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Reeve return from a three or four week vacation today they are going to get a surprise that will no doubt go down in their memory as one of the epochs in their lives. Mrs. Reeve just recently returned from Camden, N. J. where she had been a hospital patient for several months and in order that she might completely recover her health the trip to Canada was arranged. When the Reeve family arrive in Clearfield today to again take up their daily duties at the Presbyterian manse they will be likely to believe that a good fairy has been at work at the manse and there will be evidence there to show that there are a lot of good fairies in Clearfield and particularly among the women of the Presbyterian church.

Shortly after the pastor and his wife left for Canada the Ladies Aid of the church conceived the idea of refurbishing Mrs. Reeve's room at the manse and when they finished this they thought that they had only begun the good work that they could do so they set about to do a real job of it. The manse was accordingly thoroughly cleaned and renovated, new wall paper of a particularly beautiful and tasty design was selected and put on every room, upstairs and down, new curtains were made and hung, beautiful draperies were designed, cut out, hemmed and put in place. A bedroom was completely outfitted with new furniture, even to a reading lamp. Three luxurious pieces of new furniture were installed in the living room. The wood work in all rooms was re-touched and new lighting fixtures of a very pretty modern design installed. These are the things we notice and no doubt the ladies did much more than this that did not come under our notice for mere man does not notice the many little touches that make a home dear to the heart of a woman. We did notice, however that it looks like a honeymoon nest and if we had any idea that the Ladies Aid would do as much for us we would go to Canada next week.

So proud were the ladies of their accomplishment that they invited everybody in last evening to look it over and a large proportion of the congregation availed themselves of the privilege. The ladies served tea, Mrs. Harry B. Fulford and Miss Ella Shaw, presiding, represented the Ladies Aid and the Women's Missionary Society, both of whom helped in the undertaking. Each of the other organizations were represented by the young ladies who served. Miss Mary Mitchell sang several selections which were heartily enjoyed. Miss Jean Mitchell rendered a violin solo of great merit and Mrs. Alice Smith Bay contributed a full share to the enjoyment of the evening at the piano.

The surprise tendered Dr. and Mrs. Reeve today is a manifestation of the high regard in which they are held by the members of the Presbyterian congregation. The Progress joins in their welcome back to Clearfield.

CONTRACT SIGNED FOR STREET LIGHTS THRU WOODLAND

Yesterday a brief mention was made of a new era of change in the town of Woodland. Recently there was organized a Booster Club out there, which club is composed of the business and professional men; those who by the present order of things are expected to take the lead and set the pace as they do in other towns.
They seem to have the right idea and already are at work on some propothings that they point to with pride right now is the signing of a con-complete triumph for the military juntas, who presumably will start immediately carrying out their program, which calls for:

First: An increased campaign against the Moorish rebels in Morocco.

Second: Suppression of Communism and Separatism.

Third: Satisfaction of legitimate demands of Catalonia, Galicia and Bizaya, but with the preservation of the national unity.

The Revolutionists, it was indicated, will not tolerate separation of Catalonia from the Spanish State and will stand firm in their loyalty to the King and his monarchy.

King Alfonso arrived here at 10:00

bers of the Government, civil and military authorities.

Judges Of Election Can Good Woman Called Help People To Know Election Results Early By Death Suddenly On Friday Afternoon

The county-wide interest being manifested in the primary election campaign which is now drawing to a close will only be excelled by the interest in the results after one hundred ten election boards of the county have completed their labors of tallying the vote. Even though there may be a heavy vote cast, and the number of candidates great, the individual voter is privileged to vote for but a small portion of the whole.

Thus the unofficial results should be forthcoming fairly early in the night. The important matter is that a complete tabulation should be made early on Wednesday. The return judges are required to come to the office of the county commissioners at Clearfield on the morning following the primary and deliver to those officials both sealed and unsealed return sheets. From the latter, the information for the public is gleaned.

In past years, great inconvenience has often been experienced by reason of the fact that some return judges have sealed the unsealed sheets, thus shutting off the privilege of the public in obtaining the information contained therein. Last year the commissioners issued an order that a strict compliance with the law relative to return sheets would be required. Failure to live up to the letter of the law would result in a request to return, reassemble the board and extract the sheet which is to be unsealed from the sealed envelope.

This order did a lot of good. Election officers who had formerly been careless and indifferent about this

This community received a sad shock last evening when word was noised about town of the death of Mrs. John, the beloved wife of Squire Joseph F. John, and former pastor of St. Andrew's Episcopal church.

Mrs. John, who was enjoying her usual good health up until about 2 o'clock about that time was seized by an attack of acute indigestion. A physician was called who ministered to her and left her resting comfortably. About 6 o'clock her family, who were in close attention, noticed she was sinking rapidly and within fifteen minutes of that hour the final summons came and the soul of this good woman winged its silent flight to the God who gave it.

The deceased was a noble woman,
the ideal wife and devoted mother who since coming to Clearfield with her family about fifteen years ago had endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She lived for her home and loved ones and never tired in her efforts to make them comfortable and happy, and also possessed mother love enough in her heart to self-sacrificingly extend its goodness and kindness to all in need of the mothering and sympathy ever bubbling over in her heart.

Her sudden taking away is indeed a heart-crushing blow to her loved ones and her death has brought sorrow and gloom to the entire community.

Mrs. John is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Henry Van Valzah, Misses Laura and Agnes, all of Clearfield, and one son.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. L. C.

The ZR-1, Uncle Sam's wonderful airplane which recently made a successful trial flight, is some boat. Here is what it cost, what it can do, and its capacity in power and balance.

Work was started in April, 1922. It has cost $1,500,000. It has a total lift of 108,000 pounds and a dead weight of 74,000 pounds. It can carry 150 passengers, 3,000 lbs., and with twice the quantity of fuel will take them over any transatlantic route. Six engines of 300 horse-power each hang from it in gondolas. It is equipped with 62 fuel tanks, each with a capacity of 5,430 gallons of gasoline, and 20 water ballast tanks, each containing one ton of water.

While no official announcement has been made of its war availability, it is said that there is ample space for mounting guns and storage of high explosives.

It is officially reported that 2,794 forest fires burned in this state last spring. The flames swept over an area estimated at 340,797 acres, and the direct damage to the growing timber is placed at $711,042. It cost the state $127,515.70 to extinguish the flames.

When you are asked to contribute to Japanese relief, bear in mind that at the time of the San Francisco earthquake Japan was the first foreign nation to contribute to the relief fund. The Japs contributed to the relief fund $254,960, which was more than the combined total contributed by all other foreign nations. San Francisco requested no assistance. She rebuilt herself with miracle.

ulous speed and energy. None the less, the generous act of Japan, now so dreadfully afflicted, should not be forgotten. This nation should advance to Japan what she wants more than mere individual charity, substantial loans, on most reasonable terms.

Practice the fundamental Christian precepts and you will be a good and useful citizen. And if you are a good and useful citizen, you will make a genuine contribution to democracy and to your country's welfare, however humble the part you may be called upon to play. It is not given to every man and woman to be great in the sense that we ordinarily use that term. True greatness does not consist in high place or power; it consists in the quality and character of the individual, and in the kind of service he renders in the part allotted to him in the tasks of our common life.

But do not call yourselves 100 per cent American. Patriotism is not measured in percentages. One hundred per cent is the mathematical equation for perfection, and one must not be so pharisaical as to claim that he is a perfect citizen under the guise of a mathematical equation or otherwise. Patriotism is not a matter of mathematics; it is a matter of equality, of sacrifice, of soul. It is a transcendent thing, and is not proved by asseverations of perfection or mere protestations. By practicing Christian virtues, by observing high moral standards, and by making unselfish sacrifice to the high command of duty, you will become a patriot, and prove worthy of citizenship in the greatest democracy the world has ever known.

... of who were unaware of the demands of the law took the cue and all the returns came in form. It is hoped that the same condition will obtain this year. The same law applies and the invocation of the same rule and law will stand as last year. The same law applies and the invocation of the same rule and law will stand as last year.

There are many candidates this year and it is expected there will be some close contests. It may require the complete vote to determine the winner. The sealing of the returns from a single district may hold the result in abeyance for three or four days. Those would be exasperating days, not only for the candidates whose fates are in the balance but for the public which is entitled to that information just as soon as it can get it.

Purged instructions to election of fairs are contained in the paraphernalia and simple. Envelopes are provided for each return and tally sheets and it is marked on the envelope whether or not it is to be sealed and to whom it is to be delivered. This should simplify matters for judges of election and insure complete, unsealed returns from which the newspapers get the information which they disseminate to the public.

blow struck in the fight which could be called a miss, but he floored Firpo for the count of four with a left to the jaw. Firpo got up and landed a short right to the body. Dempsey floored Firpo again with a right to the jaw and Firpo arose. Dempsey knocked him down again but he seemed to mind it no more than would a balky mule. Twice more the giant Argentinian kissed the boards. The knockdowns were so frequent that it was practically impossible to keep track of them. When Firpo had been knocked down for the fourth time Dempsey dropped his guard and, just as though he had come fresh into the ring, Firpo dropped Dempsey with a terrific blow. The champion went to his knees but carried on the fighting with vigor. The finish of the fight was a free handed slugging match, every blow like that of a pile driver and every smash landing. Both were slugging. Roth were wobbly. Both were almost out. When the gong sounded Firpo had Dempsey on the ropes and was pounding him at will. It was the fastest and most furious round ever witnessed in the history of prize fighting. Not to be compared in any way with the Willard-Dempsey clash in which the champion had it all his own way. Here was a test of force, not the triumph of science and force over flesh and poundage. The seconds of both fighters worked frantically and panic stricken between the rounds. Dempsey's manager, Jack Kearns, lost his usual composure and it was evident to all that the fight must end soon and that there was a possibility of the South American getting one of his terrific blows in at a critical time.

shook the champion to the heels.

This he followed up with a right and left to Dempsey's jaw, struck almost simultaneously, which sent the champion catapulting through the ropes onto the shoulders of Kid McPartland, one of the judges. Dempsey had again been surprised. He was also angered. Gaining his place in the ring he charged and landed a left to Firpo's heart which sent Firpo down on his side, but the doughty Firpo was not to be disposed of easily. Again he arose but with blood streaming from his nose and mouth, his knees sagging. The time for a knockout had arrived and a carefully timed, quickly executed right and left to the jaw sent the hope of South America on his back for the count of ten.

The Sedan Without Limitations

Ensconced in the expansive comfort of your Stutz Six Sedan, storms are merely an incident, never to mar motoring pleasure. Weather cannot veer so quickly as you can let the wide clear glass panels up or down.

Yet, in producing an equipage finely attune to the social occasion, no whit of capability as a road car has been lost in the Stutz Six Sedan. Vanished is all that heavy feeling associated with enclosed cars, for the Stutz Six engine, with its limitless energy, propels this Sedan with that spirited alacrity and ease of handling matched only by Stutz Six open models.

Owners know

Silent and sturdy as the motor is this full-fledged four-door Sedan body, mounted in the exclusive new Stutz manner on separate supports outside the sagless, swayless, ultra-deep frame.

Smart but practical in finish and fittings; debonair as a continental custom car; able as a Stutz; here is a Sedan to emphasize the qualities which have made the Stutz Six, at its moderate price, the unabated sensation among automobiles. The increasing demand recommends immediate action.

"My Stutz Six Sedan has more power than any other car within $7000 of the same price. Most closed cars can top heavy and do not have the same power required. Both of these disadvantages common to other closed cars have been overcome in the Stutz Six Sedan. The power feature sold me." C. V. GRAY, Gray Lumber and Shingle Co., Seattle, Wash.

"I cannot say enough for Stutz cars. Have had four previous models and have driven over 200,000 miles with perfect satisfaction. Once a Stutz owner, always a Stutz owner!" S. SPANGLER, Lancaster, Pa.

"My Stutz Six is all that I could expect of a car. The car's performance is in every way remarkable. I have always heard the Stutz spoken of as a good car and the Stutz Company as a reliable concern." DAVID ROBBINS, Jr., Fort Newton, N. J.
